YALE LEADS IN BASKETBALL

Princeton Hot on Old Eli's Trail-Blue Five Have Whirlwind Attack.

Although the season in the Intercollegiate Basketball League has almost two months to run the environment has assumed a "distinctly blue" tinge. The Yale team, holding a strategic position close to the lead, is made up of veterans, and is playing the strongest, most consistent ball of any of the six teams in the league, it is true that the Eli boys dipped their colors to the Princeton quintet last Tuesday, after a wonderful fight; but even in defeat they showed to great advantage.

Yale has worked on the plan that the best defence is a whirlwind attack. Opposing teams have scored thirty-seven goals from the field, even with such capable men as Captain Charley Taft playing at one guard and Mallon at the other. Yale has worked on the plan that the best defence is a whirlwind attack. Opposing teams have scored thirty-seven goals from the field, even with such capable men as Captain Charley Taft playing at one guard and Mallon at the other. The aggressive style of play of these stars has offered their rivais chances which were not passed up—to break loose and score.

Kinney Brightest Star

Kinney Brightest Star

Orsen A. Kinney is the brightest star in the Blue constellation. He leads his team in scoring and ranks fourth in the league. He has accounted for 39 of the 136 points made by Yale.

Kinney's skill at flipping the ball through the loop is necromantic. In the game against Columbia he just tossed the leather and it managed to find its way into the cage. He is wonderful in his team work, too, and is prone to perform the unexpected in the psychological moment.

Olsen, the other forward, is not so spectacular in his work as Kinney; but his play is up to that standard demanded of veteran performers.

Garfield, grandson of the former president of the United States, is centre—and a good centre, too. He has not been alarmingly active in goal shooting, but does his work well.

Charley Taft, son of another expresident; and Mallon, the guards, complete the roster of the first team. How powerful these men are may be judged from the fact that it has not been necessary to make a single subjudged from the fact that it has not been necessary to make a single sub-stitution in the games played thus far.

Penn is Shaky

Penn is Shaky

There is a general feeling among critics that the Penn team will not hold up under the pace. It fell away from standard in the game against Cornell, completely baffied by the style of play adopted for the occasion by the men from Ithaca.

Penn is eagerly awaiting the return of Martin to the game. Martin is a star of first magnitude. At present he is in the grip of the faculty, and until such time as he establishes his scholastic status he will be a spectator at the games. The mid-term examinations will determine his fate.

Winning over the Quakers may work a metamorphosis in the Cornell team.

SATURDAY'S MARKET. Leading Issues Declined During the Dull Session.

New York, Jan. 27.-Traders availed themselves of the revival of peace re-ports in the course of today's dull and perfunctory market, leading issues as well as volatile specialties recording irregular declines. The movement was assisted by conditions in the commodity markets, cereals yielding sharply with a contrary rise in cotton options. United States Steel was offered down a point, with five points for Bethiehem Steel and one to two points for af-fillated industrials, two to three points for shippings and motors and more moderate recessions in equipments.

The Dartmouth team is located down near the bottom, with little chance to emerge from the depths. The Green five is a hard fighting combination, but lacking in balance. Rau, at one forward, and Sisson, a guard, are the outstanding men of the team. Sisson ranks with the best men on the courts this season.

REPRESENTATIVE BENNET SAYS THERE WAS A "LEAK" Made Declaration at a Dinner in Nev York Saturday Night.

New York, Jan. 28.—Emphatic declaration by one member of the house rules committee that there was a "leak" on President Wilson's recent peace note and promise by another that he would insist that the congressional inquiry extend to alleged "leaks" on presidential messages generally came tonight while plans were being made for resumption tomorrow

Representative Bennet, republican, of New York, declared there was a "leak." He originally made this declaration at a private dinner last night and today when a "leak" developed on his speech, he issued a written statement about it.

PRESIDENT OF COSTA RICA DEPOSED FROM OFFICE

By Military Forces Supported by Great Number of Citizens.

San Jose, Costa Rica, Jan. 28.—The president of Costa Rica, Alfredo Gonzalez, was deposed from office by the military forces of the capital, supported by a great number of citizens, on Saturday. The administrative power was conferred on the minister of war, Federico Tinoco, as provisional chief of the executive. The movement was enthusiastically carried and perfect order prevailed

Already the Tinoco government has taken steps to call a convention, the delegates to be elected by the people, which will meet on April 1 for the election of a president.

The cause of Gonzalez's deposition is to be found, according to the leaders of the movement, in the re-election aims of the president who it is old

Congested Legislation Makes Overtime Sessions Necessary.

Jan. 28.-With less than thirty working days remaining in the life of the sixty-fourth congress, the democratic steering committee of the senate decided today to hold daily sessions of the senate from 11 o'clock in the morning until 10 o'clock at night beginning. night, beginning Thursday, February

Overtime sessions were determined on as the first move in an effort to solve the congested legislative situation, the decision being to work as hard and fast as possible on essential appropriations and the revenue bill and to undertake the big general administration measures. ministration measures one by one as time permits. citizenship bill and railroad measures they believe, can be disposed of. More-over, there is doubt whether the rail-road bills to be submitted will satisfy the president. In any event the word has been passed around that the pres-ident does not want an extra session and that he probably would one even should such desired legisla-tion fail.

Another obstruction to business which democratic leaders fear is the urgent desire of republican senators to force discussion of President Wilson's peace address as provided for in Sen-ator Cummins' resolution for a debate and the Borah resolution to reaffirm the faith of the senate in the Monroe Doc-trine and the principles of Washing-ton and Jefferson advising against entangling foreign alliances.
